COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Instructional Methods / Activities / Assessments

This class will incorporate active learning techniques and will require a high level of student participation. There will be a small portion of lecture notes, readings from the textbook and assigned articles but class will revolve around threaded discussions allowing for the exchange of ideas and formulation of questions related to the processes of collection development and management, peer group participation, seven assignments and a final project: a collection development policy for a school library program.

Reading Discussions: Classmates will make an initial post and reply to at least 2-3 classmates posts for each unit (see the end of the syllabus for further information about postings - postings which say 'I agree' or 'I disagree' will not count as a posting) instead students are expected to create an on-line discussion that expands on the topic(s) and assignments.

The instructor will read all postings and may occasionally jump into the conversation. Since the discussions will be based on each unit's assigned readings and assignments, it is important that you complete the reading and assignments so that you will be an informed participant in the discussions. The question prompt under Reading Discussion will be a starting point for the threaded discussions.

Assignments: Seven individual assignments related to collection development and management will be assigned. Each assignment represents a section of a collection development policy together they offer the basics of a collection development policy for a school library program.

Final Project: A collection development policy for a school library program. Using the school library you selected, you will identify goals and measurable outcomes. You will use the information you have assembled from all the previous lessons and assignments to create a collection development plan.

Currently there are no required synchronous online times. This course will be delivered completely online via Brightspace D2L.
THIS IS NOT A SELF-PACED COURSE!!!!

Student Responsibilities or Tips for Success in the Course

Scholarly Expectations: Work submitted at the graduate level is expected to demonstrate critical and creative thinking skills and be of significantly higher quality than work produced at the undergraduate level. To achieve this expectation, all students are responsible for giving and getting peer feedback (if applicable) of their work prior to submitting it for a grade.

Students are also expected to resolve technical issues, be active problem solvers, and embrace challenges as positive learning opportunities. Educational technology professionals must be able to work cooperatively and collaboratively with others—skills which students are expected to practice in this course. Students are expected to ask for help when they need it and offer help when they notice someone in need.

GRADING

Standard grading for the overall class score is:

Introduction	5%	A 90% – 100%
Reading Discussions	25%	B 80% - 89%
Peer Review	15%	C 75% - 79%
Assignments	25%	D 70% - 74%
Final Project	30%	E 69% and below

Grade of "X" (Incomplete) - In accordance with the Academic Procedures stated in the TAMU-C Catalog, "students, who because of circumstances beyond their control, are unable to attend classes during finals week or the preceding three weeks will, upon approval of their instructor, receive a mark of 'X' (incomplete) in all courses in which they were maintaining passing grades." The mark of "X" will only be considered in strict compliance with University Policy upon submission of complete medical or other relevant documentation.

The instructor will be online daily. Place general course questions in my Virtual Office. For personal questions, please send me an email (anjum.najmi@tamuc.edu). Questions will be answered within 24 hours on weekdays.

Assessments

A NOTE ABOUT DISCUSSIONS—For full credit, you must post one original post in response to the question prompt and 2-3 comments on your classmates' postings by the due date.

Students will receive higher grades on Discussion posts and responses if they:

- Respond to classmates' comments and questions
- Reference or cite comments specifically to the professional literature (texts, supplemental reading, additional relevant materials located by the student)

- Relate meaningfully to the issue addressed
- Raise an area of inquiry or an issue in a clear manner for further discussion or debate
- Recommend a resource which helps a fellow student gain more understanding on an issue or topic
- Summarize information as evidence that either validates (supports) or suggests a different perspective (counters) and the information is referenced; such information may or may not agree with the student's personal opinion
- Initiate discussions by posting new questions or raising alternative viewpoints on issues helps others in class find meaning and relevance to the issues and information raised.

Peer Review: Make initial post, include self-evaluation with initial post, follow up (at separate times) with 2-3 meaningful and thoughtful responses to group members posts that encourage discussion of the project.

Assignments: Students will receive higher grades if they:

- Use the appropriate filename (lastname_Assignment#.docx)
- Use 12 point Times New Roman or Arial font with one inch margins, and
- double space has thoroughly spell checked and grammar checked writing
- Has met at least the minimum length required
- Has turned the assignment in to dropbox by the deadline

The instructor will use subjective judgment and D2L statistics to determine the extent of the student's contributions to class.

Late Work: All assignments are due by midnight of the last day of the unit assigned, with a few exceptions, which will be noted.

The discussion of each policy should consist of a minimum of 350 words. If your school library has these policies, you may use those policies; otherwise there are several available on the Internet.

TO DO (to be completed before the end of unit 1):

#1 - Create an account with 1-2 school library vendors. If you are not currently at a school library, you can set up an account with these companies. The companies know that students set up accounts, so just fill out a profile for each company. You will not need to actually order something. The vendors are:

Unit 2 – Community Analysis; Collaborative Planning READ: Chapters 3, 14 and 15 of the textbook.

DISCUSSIONS: Community Analysis

Peer Group Participation II: Draft a mission statement for your school library be sure that it addresses the school’s mission. Identify 2-3 action items specific to your school’s community.

ASSIGNMENT 2: Community Analysis

Students will write a community analysis and needs statement for a school library to include:

- i) Type of school library;
- ii) Amounts and sources of funding;
- iii) Size of collection; number and type of staff;
- iv) The specific community that the library serves (demographic/census information);
- v) The library’s mission, the school’s mission, and broader community that the library serves.

Unit 3 – Selection Tools for Books; Selection Tools for Serials and Non-print Materials and Government Documents; Selection Criteria (online resources) & Collection Maintenance (incl. weeding)

READ: Chapter 6, 7, 8, and 10 of the textbook.

NOTE: if the link above does not work for you:

1. Go to the Libraries' webpage (<http://www.etamu.edu/library/>)
2. At the top of the page, in the middle is the Easy Search box. Just below the box
3. select Title (Keyword is the default).
4. Copy and paste the title (in quotes in the citation) in to the search box and hit search. You should be taken to the title that you are looking for. If not, be sure that you have quotation marks on either end of the title in the search box.

DISCUSSION: The Selection Process

ASSIGNMENT 3: Journal Review

Select two evaluation tools/journals from the list below. Write a review of each of the selected titles that you will examine (ideally, you should try to look at one or two issues in print – your public library or your school library may have some of these, and the titles below with asterisks are held in the Texas A&M University-Commerce Library – otherwise you may have to try to examine them online). Your review should include:

- i) Pluses and minuses of each title (Did you prefer one? Why?);
- ii) What percentage of the journals are reviews;
- iii) What is the journal's editorial policy for reviewing;
- iv) Were they appropriate to your school library – why or why not;
- v) Currency of the reviews;
- vi) You may include other details that you feel are important.

Tools for review:

Booklist*
School Library
Journal* Book Links
Voice of Youth Advocates or VOYA Publishers
Weekly* Horn Book Magazine*
Library Media Connection: LMC Choice

ASSIGNMENT 4: Select Resources

Select one particular type of library (e.g., elementary school, K-12 - if you are currently at a school, as a teacher or librarian, feel free to use your school's library as your model) and then select three items appropriate to that setting

These items can be any combination of media formats: audiovisual/multimedia, computer software, video games. Be sure to cite reviews (at least one journal review per title-- provide full bibliographic citation and note whether the overall assessment is "positive" or "negative" in tone), selective bibliographies, awards, etc., useful in helping you, the evaluator, come to a decision as to whether or not to include the item in question in your library.

NOTE: you may not be able to find reviews in the sources previously mentioned, depending on what you choose, but I suggest that you look the item(s) that you choose up in the East Texas A&M- Library's Easy Search. You might find a review in another journal that is not necessarily targeted to school libraries.

Remember: Customer reviews from Amazon are NOT acceptable. You may consider them in your selection process, if you like, but they should not be a primary source, and are not acceptable in this class. You do not know the qualifications of the person reviewing, and, to be honest the reviewer could be the author's cousins, nephews, whatever, or maybe the author's worst enemy and their relatives. In any case, you have no idea if they are qualified to give a review that influences your selection. This is also true of fan sites like GoodReads.

These sites might be good for ideas that you might want to check out, or a second or third opinion, but they are by no means authoritative and are not likely to let you know if your books contain important features that you need for a school collection.

ASSIGNMENT 5: Deselect Resources

Using the same library you chose for Assignment 4, do the following: Write a weeding policy for your library. Identify 5 titles in your library's collection for weeding. Explain why they should be weeded.

Unit 4 - Collection Analysis & Acquisitions with Budgeting READ: Chapters 9, 12, and 16 of the textbook.

DISCUSSION: Collection Analysis & Acquisitions

ASSIGNMENT 6 – Random Sample

Select one of the following:

1. You will conduct a random sample of your collection and report your findings. You will gather factual data about the collection that you can use to communicate with administrators, teachers, and the public.

NOTE: For your random sampling, you may choose a specific genre, and work with that collection, or do a systematic random sample. To do a systematic random sample, find out the number of titles in the collection, decide on how big you want your sample to be (i.e. you want to sample 20 items out of 100). You will then divide 100 by 20 and you will come up with 5.

At that point you will pick a random title from your collection's list of titles, and you will choose every 5th title from the title that you choose to start with. The 5th titles will be your random sampling. You may choose to do this random sample with a call number range.

2. Choose one curriculum area (preferably nonfiction), or call number range, in your library. Apply two assessment techniques (collection mapping, a collection-centered measure, a use-centered measure, or a simulated-use study) to that curriculum area. For each technique, provide:

- i) A reason for using this technique in this assessment;
- ii) A summary of results;
- iii) A brief discussion of what these results might mean to the library a brief;
- iv) Critique of the technique used;
- v) A brief discussion about how the results of this assessment might be used (will you weed the section, will you share the results with teachers/administrators/accrediting agencies?)

ASSIGNMENT 7: Plan Your Order

You have $2000.00 to purchase books (fiction and nonfiction) and reference materials for your collection. Choose 2-4 curriculum areas based on needs that you have discovered in your library. Spend at least $500 on non-print items, and don't forget special needs. Build your order(s) using your vendor database account(s) set up during Week 1. Don't forget to take into account costs for shipping and handling, and for pre-processing the items. Use the vendor's software to build the order(s), but save them in Word and put them in the dropbox that way. No order should be less than $100 due to the costs to the school/school district to process orders.

Unit 5 – Copyright and Other Ethical Issues and Censorship/Intellectual Freedom

READ: Chapter 13 in the Bishop textbook.

3. Copy and paste the title (in quotes in the citation) in to the search box and hit search. You should be taken to the title that you are looking for. If not,

be sure that you have quotation marks on either end of the title in the search box.

DISCUSSION: Ethics in School

Scenarios: On page 206 and 207 of the textbook there is a list of 12 scenarios. Choose 2 scenarios from the list and explain how you would handle those situations and why you would handle them that way. In your response include the scenario at the top of your discussion, so that I will know what is being discussed approximately 2 to 3 pages.

Post your response to the assignment forum and make two responses to a classmates post.

Final Project: A Collection Development Plan

The final project will provide us with an opportunity to experience the full selection and acquisition cycle—a collection development policy. Using your library, or your dream library, you will identify goals and measurable outcomes. You will use the information you have assembled from all the previous lessons and assignments to create your collection development policy. You can also use some of the items that you created for previous assignments to help populate your policy. See pages 52 and 53 for the contents that should be included.

ETEC ePORTFOLIO FOR MS/MEd IN EDUCATIONAL TECHNOLOGY

Students pursuing the MS/MEd degree in Educational Technology Library Science (ETLS) are now required to submit an electronic portfolio prior to graduation as it will benefit the student in obtaining a position in Library or Media Services. They should view the 'eportfolio guidelines and expectations' under eportfolios tab on the orientation webpage.

NOTE: This requirement does not pertain to students taking ETEC courses as an elective for other programs, including those pursuing only the School Library Certification who already have earned a master's degree.

Courses in the ETEC program have identified artifact(s) that should be included in the eportfolio to provide evidence of acquired and developing knowledge, skills, and philosophical approaches.

In courses where recommended artifacts are not identified, it is the student's responsibility to collect artifacts throughout the course and appropriately select which artifacts to include in the eportfolio. This includes courses from other departments and/or institutions for which the student is receiving credit towards the ETEC master's degree.

For LIS 524, the required artifacts are:

- Community Analysis assignment
- Copyright and Ethical Issues
- Scenarios Assignment OR
- Collection Development Plan

Newly admitted majors in the program should contact Dr. Anjum Najmi, for more information on how to get started with the ETEC ePortfolio.

*If you plan to major in the program, but have not yet applied, you are strongly encouraged to do so as soon as possible.

Contact anjum.najmi@etamu.edu for more information about the program's eportfolio requirement.
