COURSE INFORMATION

Materials – Textbooks, Readings, Supplementary Readings

Software Required: Microsoft Office, Adobe Creative Cloud, TK20

Course Description

SED 404: Supervised clinical teaching experiences in the secondary school classroom. Clinical teachers will create, evaluate, and implement curriculum and assessments. In addition, clinical teachers will evaluate, reflect on, and refine their own teaching practices. Prerequisites: SED 400 and 401

SED 405: Students explore, evaluate, synthesize, and validate concepts of professionalism encountered during supervised clinical teaching. Students explore current topics and issues for public educators and understand the necessity for continued professional development. Regular seminar sessions will focus on the situations, questions, and concerns that arise directly from the clinical teachers' experiences in secondary public school classrooms. Prerequisite: SED 400.

Student Learning Outcomes

1. Create, implement, and evaluate curriculum and assessments: Students will design standards-aligned instructional materials and assessment tools, implement these resources effectively in secondary classroom settings, and critically evaluate their impact on student learning through data analysis and reflection.

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

2. Engage in reflective practice for continuous improvement: Students will systematically evaluate and refine their teaching practices through self-assessment, peer feedback, and mentor guidance, demonstrating growth in instructional effectiveness and professional decision-making throughout their clinical experience.
3. Demonstrate professional educator behaviors and ethics: Students will explore, synthesize, and validate concepts of professionalism by modeling appropriate conduct, communication, and collaboration in school settings while understanding their responsibilities as members of the educational community.
4. Analyze current educational issues and commit to lifelong learning: Students will examine contemporary challenges facing public education, participate meaningfully in seminar discussions about real classroom situations and concerns, and develop a personal framework for ongoing professional development as career-long learners.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

General Overview of Required Work

Instructional Methods

Our clinical teaching courses employ a field-based experiential learning model that immerses undergraduate students in authentic educational environments. Primary learning occurs through sustained field experiences where students engage directly with classroom practices, supported by structured reflection prompts that encourage critical analysis of their observations and interactions.

Eight strategic seminars throughout the semester focus on essential teaching themes:

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

classroom management, relationship building, working with diverse learners, accommodations and differentiation, data collection, and professional ethics. These seminars utilize research-based presentations, interactive activities, and collaborative exercises that connect theoretical knowledge to practical application.

This blended approach ensures students develop both practical competencies through direct classroom exposure and theoretical understanding through evidence-based content. Prompted reflections bridge field experiences with seminar learning, helping students synthesize observations with research-based practices while developing their professional teaching identity and maintaining high standards of ethics and professionalism.

Tips for Success in the Course

A Note on Learning: As we pursue learning together, I strive to keep the following guiding principles (inspired by the Chronicle of Higher Education):

- Put people first. As we learn human-centered philosophies and methodologies in this course, I hope we practice empathy and be cognizant of how our own realities (day-to-day lives) can be imposed upon others whose lives may differ drastically from ours.
- Stay informed. We will keep ourselves educated about any public health and safety situations and make informed decisions about our personal, social, and professional lives.
- Communicate early and often. Even when we are physically and socially apart, we can remain connected through various communication platforms. Always reach out if you need anything necessary to support your learning and your own well-being. The syllabus and schedule are subject to change.
- Celebrate accomplishments. Any achievements, major or minor, during this time are a testament to your dedication and perseverance. We will enable a culture of celebration in this class. So, feel free to share with me your successes (and failures when you attempt something), and I will acknowledge them however you prefer.
- Take care of yourself. Get enough rest, food, movement, and anything you need to keep you in a positive mood and good health. If you don't feel well, do not force yourself through the coursework. Let me know so we can work out alternatives together.

GRADING

Final grades in this course will be based on the following scale:

A = 90%-100%

B = 80%-89%

C = 70%-79%

Late Work Policy

As future educators, you're developing the professional habits that will serve you throughout your teaching career. Since each assignment in this course builds upon the previous one, it's important that you receive timely feedback to help you succeed on upcoming assessments.

I understand that life happens, and sometimes you may need additional time to complete an assignment. If you find yourself in a situation where you won't be able to meet a deadline, please reach out to me as soon as possible to discuss an extension. I'm here to support your learning and want to work with you to find solutions that help you stay on track.

By maintaining these expectations, you're not only ensuring your own academic success but also practicing the time management and communication skills that will be essential in your future classroom.

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

ACCESS, NAVIGATION, AND RESOURCES

Supporting Your Learning Needs

Everyone learns differently, and I want to make sure this course works for you! Whether you prefer discussing ideas out loud, processing information through writing, or learning in other ways, I'm committed to helping you succeed.

If certain aspects of the course (like discussions, assignments, or online activities) are challenging for you, please reach out to me early in the semester. Together, we can find approaches that better match your learning style.

Students with documented disabilities can receive official accommodations, but I'm happy to work with any student who needs additional support. Remember that other campus resources, including the Counseling Center, are available to everyone.

Both visible and invisible challenges can affect your learning experience. My goal is for every student to thrive in this class, so please don't hesitate to let me know how I can help.

Students with Disabilities-- ADA Statement

The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) is a federal anti-discrimination statute that provides comprehensive civil rights protection for persons with disabilities. Among other things, this legislation requires that all students with disabilities be guaranteed a learning environment that provides for reasonable accommodation of their disabilities. If you have a disability requiring an accommodation, please contact:

Interaction with Instructor Statement

Communication is a key part of success in this course. I am available via email weekdays or by appointment (email me to set up a time) to discuss assignments and other course-related concerns. I also have walk-in office hours as scheduled above, and if I am not there, I may be in a meeting. Please note that I may not respond to emails outside of those hours. Please include a proper opening, clear message and subject line, and closing salutation in emails. Here's an example:

make your office hours. Can I set up an appointment? I am available to meet Monday, Wednesday, and Friday after 3:00 p.m.

Thank you, Jane Smith

Accountabilibuddy: Finding success in this course is easier when you're not going it alone! During our first week, you'll have the opportunity to connect with an accountability partner - a fellow student who will help keep you on track throughout the semester.

Your accountability buddy will be someone you can:

- Study with before exams
- Check in with about assignment deadlines
- Discuss challenging concepts
- Share notes with if either of you miss class

I strongly encourage you to exchange contact information with your buddy and set up regular check-ins. Even a quick weekly text can make a big difference in helping you both stay organized and motivated. If you have trouble finding a partner, please let me know, and I'll help match you with someone.

Remember, supporting each other is one of the best ways to succeed in this course!

COURSE AND UNIVERSITY PROCEDURES/POLICIES

Course Specific Procedures/Policies

Syllabus Change Policy

The syllabus is a guide. Circumstances and events, such as student progress, may make it necessary for the instructor to modify the syllabus during the semester. Any changes made to the syllabus will be announced in advance.

Grievances

Students who have concerns regarding their courses should first address those concerns with the assigned instructor in order to reach a resolution. Students who are unsatisfied with the outcome of that conversation or have not been able to meet individually with their instructor, whether in-person, by email, by telephone, or by another medium, should then schedule an appointment with the Department Head or Assistant Department Head.

Before an appointment is scheduled, the student must provide clearly documented and explained issues as to why the meeting is being requested. The student must also state when they discussed the issue in person or via phone (not email) with the instructor already. Where applicable, students should also consult University Procedure 13.99.99.R0.05 ("Student Appeal of Instructor Evaluation").

Respectful Dialogue & Student Conduct

Our class brings together people with different backgrounds, experiences, and viewpoints—which is what makes our discussions valuable!

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

You might occasionally feel challenged or uncomfortable during our conversations, and that's actually okay. These moments often lead to the most meaningful learning. The key is how we handle these situations.

While I encourage thoughtful debate and different perspectives, I expect everyone to communicate respectfully. Put simply: disagreement is welcome, disrespect is not.

I'm committed to making our classroom a place where everyone feels safe sharing their thoughts. Professional behavior and respecting boundaries are essential parts of our learning community.

All students are expected to follow the University's Code of Student Conduct, which promotes positive learning environments through common decency and appropriate behavior. The complete Code can be found in the Student Guidebook.

Classroom Community and Respect

I value each of you as members of our classroom and university community. Your unique perspectives and backgrounds enrich our learning environment.

Throughout this course, we'll explore topics that might challenge your viewpoints or take you outside your comfort zone. I ask that you approach these discussions with an open mind and evaluate ideas based on facts and knowledge rather than just personal beliefs.

If you ever experience or witness discrimination related to race, ethnicity, gender identity, sexuality, religion, veteran status, or any other aspect of identity, please don't hesitate to talk with me. I'm here to support you.

East Texas A&M University is committed to maintaining an inclusive environment free from discrimination. The university complies with all federal and state laws prohibiting discrimination based on race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability, age, genetic information, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity, or gender expression.

University Specific Procedures

Student Conduct

All students enrolled at the University shall follow the tenets of common decency and acceptable behavior conducive to a positive learning environment. The Code of Student Conduct is described in detail in the Student Guidebook.

Students should also consult the Rules of Netiquette for more information regarding how to interact with students in an online forum:

<https://www.britannica.com/topic/netiquette>

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

ETAMU Attendance

For more information about the attendance policy please visit the Attendance webpage and Procedure 13.99.99.R0.01.

Academic Integrity

Students at East Texas A&M University are expected to maintain high standards of integrity and honesty in all of their scholastic work. For more details and the definition of academic dishonesty see the following procedures:

Undergraduate Academic Integrity Guide

Undergraduate Academic Dishonesty 13.99.99.R0.03

AI Use in Course

Here's the University's policy (as of August 2023) regarding AI:

East Texas A&M University acknowledges that there are legitimate uses of Artificial Intelligence, ChatBots, or other software that has the capacity to generate text, or suggest replacements for text beyond individual words, as determined by the instructor of the course. Any use of such software must be documented. Any undocumented use of such software constitutes an instance of academic dishonesty (plagiarism). Individual instructors may disallow entirely the use of such software for individual assignments or for the entire course. Students should be aware of such requirements and follow their instructor's guidelines. If no instructions are provided the student should assume that the use of such software is disallowed. In any case, students are fully responsible for the content of any assignment they submit, regardless of whether they used an AI, in any way. This specifically includes cases in which the AI plagiarized another text or misrepresented sources.

Students with Disabilities-- ADA Statement

The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) is a federal anti-discrimination statute that provides comprehensive civil rights protection for persons with disabilities. Among other things, this legislation requires that all students with disabilities be guaranteed a learning environment that provides for reasonable accommodation of their disabilities. Nondiscrimination Notice

East Texas A&M University will comply in the classroom, and in online courses, with all federal and state laws prohibiting discrimination and related retaliation on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability, age, genetic information or veteran status. Further, an environment free from discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation, gender identity, or gender expression will be maintained.

Campus Concealed Carry Statement

Texas Senate Bill - 11 (Government Code 411.2031, et al.) authorizes the carrying of a concealed handgun in East Texas A&M University buildings only by persons who have been issued and are in possession of a Texas License to Carry a Handgun. Qualified law enforcement officers or those who are otherwise authorized to carry a concealed handgun in the State of Texas are also permitted to do so. Pursuant to Penal Code (PC) 46.035 and East Texas A&M University Rule 34.06.02.R1, license holders may not carry a concealed handgun in restricted locations.

For a list of locations, please refer to the Carrying Concealed Handguns On Campus document and/or consult your event organizer.

Pursuant to PC 46.035, the open carrying of handguns is prohibited on all East Texas A&M University campuses. Report violations to the University Police Department at 903-886-5868 or 9-1-1.

East Texas A&M University Supports Students' Mental Health

The Counseling Center at East Texas A&M University, located in the Halladay Building, Room 203, offers counseling services, educational programming, and connection to community resources for students. Students have 24/7 access to the Counseling Center's crisis assessment services by calling 903-886-5145. For more information regarding Counseling Center events and confidential services, please visit www.etamu.edu/counseling-center

Mental Health and Well-Being

The university aims to provide students with essential knowledge and tools to understand and support mental health. As part of our commitment to your well-being, we offer access to Telus Health, a service available 24/7/365 via chat, phone, or webinar. Scan the QR code to download the app and explore the resources available to you for guidance and support whenever you need it.
