Course Description

ENGL 1301: College Reading and Writing (3 credit hours): builds the rhetorical reading, writing, and revision skills students rely on throughout college and beyond. Students analyze how popular and academic texts use rhetorical strategies to reach different audiences, compose a literacy narrative reflecting on personal history as a reader and writer, and investigate how a discourse community uses language and genre conventions to communicate. The course closes with a sustained revision cycle, in which students return to earlier work and strengthen it using feedback and skills developed across the semester. The course emphasizes cross-disciplinary skills that transfer directly to writing in other courses and contexts.

Core Curriculum Course Objectives

- Critical Thinking Skills: to include creative thinking, innovation, inquiry, and analysis, evaluation and synthesis of information;
- Communication Skills: to include effective development, interpretation and expression of ideas through written, oral and visual communication;
- Teamwork: to include the ability to consider different points of view and to work effectively with others to support a shared purpose or goal;
- Personal Responsibility: to include the ability to connect choices, actions and consequences to ethical decision-making.

Student Learning Outcomes

Students completing ENGL 1301 will be able to:

- Identify and analyze rhetorical appeals, audience, and purpose in popular and academic texts.
- Compose genre-appropriate writing — rhetorical analysis, personal narrative, and discourse community analysis — anchoring claims in relevant evidence, whether textual evidence from an artifact, sensory and scene-based detail from lived experience, or established analytical frameworks (Swales, Melzer).
- Integrate outside evidence ethically and accurately using MLA citation conventions.
- Engage in the revision and editing process, using strategies such as reverse outlining, structured peer review, feedback triage, and substantive revision to strengthen written work.
- Collaborate effectively with peers to give and receive constructive feedback, using structured peer review to inform meaningful revision.
- Reflect on personal growth as a writer and identify strategies that transfer to future academic writing.

Instructional Modality

This section is an online/asynchronous course. There are no face-to-face or virtual meetings. All instruction and assignment work occurs on D2L.

The course syllabus and calendar are subject to change at the instructor's discretion. Students will be notified about any changes via ETAMU email and D2L announcements.

Assessment & Grading

As your instructor, my approach to classroom assessment is a through in depth written response to assignments. Additionally, I am available to have one-one-one meetings during office hours for further assessment explanation. I will be sure that you have every opportunity to succeed in this course. Midterm and final grades will be based on the grading scale below.

Grading Scale

A = 90% - 100%

B = 80% - 89%

C = 70% - 79%

D = 60% - 69%

F = 59% or Below

Weighted Grade Distribution

Weighted Grade Distribution

Category	Description	Weight
Rhetorical Analysis Essay	First draft of the rhetorical analysis of a chosen popular artifact.	20%
Literacy Narrative Essay	First draft of the personal literacy narrative.	20%
Discourse Analysis Essay	First draft of the discourse community analysis.	20%
Process Assignments	In-class exercises and peer review taken for a grade (for example, the Reverse Outline and Revision Memo, or the Structured Peer Review Worksheet, Journals, Quizzes, etc.), Weekly Participation Assignments.	10%

Access and Navigation

You will need your campus-wide ID (CWID) and password to log into the course. If you do not know your CWID or have forgotten your password, contact the Center for IT Excellence (CITE) at 903.468.6000 or helpdesk@etamu.edu.

Note: Personal computer and internet connection problems do not excuse the requirement to complete all course work in a timely and satisfactory manner. Each student needs to have a backup method to deal with these inevitable problems. These methods might include the availability of a backup PC at home or work, the temporary use of a computer at a friend's home, the local library, office service companies, Starbucks, an East Texas A&M campus open computer lab, etc.

Course Policies & Procedures

Student Responsibilities and Tips for Success in the Course

Students can achieve success in this class through the following:

- Logging into D2L at least twice per week
- Allocating a weekly reading, and writing schedule
- Asking for help from the Writing Center, or attending office hours

This course is reading and writing intensive and requires diligent, dedicated attention throughout the semester. Students who are most successful are those who set good habits from the first day of class and follow them without exception. As your instructor, I am here to help you, and I will do that anytime; but there is only so much I can do to help. The responsibility for your success lies with you.

The course syllabus and calendar are subject to change at the instructor's discretion. Students will be notified about any changes via ETAMU email and D2L announcements.

Attendance and Participation

Because this is an online/asynchronous course, there is no attendance requirement. However, there are required weekly participation assignments that will be graded. These weekly assignments will substitute for your attendance. These assignments must be completed by the deadline, and they are not eligible for late submission.

Late Work

Assignments submitted past the deadline will be subject to the following deductions:

1 day late = -10 points

2 days late = -25 points

3+ days late = NO CREDIT

If there are extenuating circumstances beyond your control, I will consider possible reduced deductions for late work. This will be on a case-by-base basis. If you know in advance that you cannot submit an assignment on time, you may request an extension no less than 24 hours prior to the deadline via ETAMU email. I will not grant verbal extensions. You may request two (2) extensions per semester. This late policy does not apply to Weekly Participation Assignments.

Communication

Communication is a key part of success in this course. I am available via email (rachel.mcbride@tamuc.edu) from 9am-5pm weekdays to discuss assignments and other course-related concerns or by appointment (email me to set up a time). I will respond within 24 hours on weekdays. Emails received over the weekend will be answered on Monday. Please include a proper opening, clear message and subject line, and closing salutation in emails.

Grievance Procedures

Students who have concerns regarding their courses should first address those concerns with the assigned instructor in order to reach a resolution. Students who are unsatisfied with the outcome of that conversation or have not been able to meet individually with their instructor, whether in-person, by email, by telephone, or by another communication medium, should then schedule an appointment with Dr. Jason Walker, the Director of Writing (Jason.Walker@ETAMU.edu). In the case when the Director of Writing is the instructor, the student should contact Dr. Debbie Lelekis, Interim Chair of the Department of Literature and Languages (Debbie.Lelekis@ETAMU.edu). Where applicable, students should also consult University Procedure 13.99.99.R0.05 (“Student Appeal of Instructor Evaluation”).

The course syllabus and calendar are subject to change at the instructor’s discretion. Students will be notified about any changes via ETAMU email and D2L announcements.

Syllabus Change Policy

The syllabus is a guide. Various circumstances and events during the semester may make it necessary for the instructor to modify the syllabus. Any changes made to the syllabus will be announced in advance in class, on D2L, and via ETAMU email.

University Specific Procedures

Student Conduct

All students enrolled at the University shall follow the tenets of common decency and acceptable behavior conducive to a positive learning environment. The Code of Student Conduct is described in detail in the Student Guidebook:

<http://www.etamu.edu/Admissions/oneStopShop/undergraduateAdmissions/studentGuidebook.aspx>

Students should also consult the Rules of Netiquette for more information regarding how to interact with students in an online forum: <https://www.britannica.com/topic/netiquette>

Nondiscrimination Notice

Your value as a member of this course and university community at large is vital to me, regardless of social identity factors. While at times, the topic of class discussions, readings, and other activities may take you out of your comfort zone or even go against your individual perception of the world, you are expected to keep an open mind and evaluate claims based on facts and knowledge, rather than preconceived notions alone. For questions or concerns, please come talk to me.

East Texas A&M University will comply in the classroom, and in online courses, with all federal and state laws prohibiting discrimination and related retaliation on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability, age, genetic information or veteran status.

Writing Program Policy on Artificial Intelligence

The course syllabus and calendar are subject to change at the instructor's discretion. Students will be notified about any changes via ETAMU email and D2L announcements.

East Texas A&M University (ETAMU) Writing Program acknowledges that there are legitimate uses of Artificial Intelligence (AI), Generative Artificial Intelligence (GenAI), and Artificial General Intelligence (AGI). The ETAMU Writing Program is guided by national, flagship organizations representing the discipline of English and the field of Writing Studies, including the Modern Language Association (MLA), National Council on the Teaching of English (NTCE), and the Conference on College Composition and Communication (CCCC) regarding the theorization and teaching of critical AI literacy. ETAMU Writing Program values a spectrum of beliefs about AI, GenAI, and AGI, ranging from ethical integration to absolute refusal. ETAMU Writing Program believes in and practices critical AI literacy alongside ethical, responsible integration of AI, GenAI, and AGI in our writing instruction, appropriately. We teach students to document their AI use in their writing and other curriculum deliverables while highlighting educational concerns about using these technologies. ETAMU Writing Program instructors share their position on and preferences for AI, GenAI, and AGI integration with students, and students follow the instructor's guidelines and the requirements of the course. Undocumented uses of AI, GenAI, and AGI can constitute an instance of academic dishonesty, including cases related to issues like plagiarism and misrepresentation in student deliverables.

Academic Integrity

Students at East Texas A&M University are expected to maintain high standards of integrity and honesty in all of their scholastic work. For more details and the definition of academic dishonesty see the following procedures:

Collection of Data for Measuring Institutional Effectiveness

To measure the level of compliance with the university's Institutional Effectiveness guidelines,

The course syllabus and calendar are subject to change at the instructor's discretion. Students will be notified about any changes via ETAMU email and D2L announcements.

throughout the semester, I will collect some of the ungraded texts you produce. The texts will be part of a portfolio created on your behalf and will be measured to ensure that our program “promotes practices that result in higher student academic achievement; an enhanced student experience; aligned and transparent decisions; and readily available information for improvement, accountability, and accreditation” (see “Department of Institutional Effectiveness,” <http://www.etamu.edu/aboutus/institutionalEffectiveness/default.aspx>). This is solely an assessment of program effectiveness and in no way affects students’ course grades or GPAs.

Students with Disabilities – ADA Statement

The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) is a federal anti-discrimination statute that provides comprehensive civil rights protection for persons with disabilities. Among other things, this legislation requires that all students with disabilities be guaranteed a learning environment that provides for reasonable accommodation of their disabilities.
