Course Description

Understanding Human Development is a developmental psychology course that examines the changes, both growth and decline, across the human lifespan from conception to death. It includes physical, cognitive, and socioemotional changes that help to shape our lives. Topics include the importance of the prenatal environment on development, formation of language, self-esteem and identity, romantic relationships, retirement, and dying. What you will find is that our journey through life is incredible – from learning to walk to compensating for physical declines in later life.

This syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

Student Learning Outcomes (SLOs)

- 1) Students will recognize key issues regarding physical, cognitive, and socioemotional changes that occur across the major stages of development – prenatal, infancy, early childhood, mid-late childhood, adolescence, early adulthood, middle adulthood, and late adulthood, and death and dying.
- 2) Students will demonstrate the importance of research along with understanding how this research is conducted, including research methodology and ethical issues.
- 3) Students will further develop communication skills to discuss psychological concepts related to developmental psychology.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Minimal Technical Skills Needed

You need to be able to use the following.

- Microsoft Office or equivalent
- PDF
- myLeo/Desire2Learn (D2L)
- Searching the internet for texts
- Using Library resources

In addition, refer to the following: <https://carleton.ca/online/online-learning-resources/essential-technological-skills/>

Instructional Methods

This is a web-based course. Each week you will be expected to complete required reading materials, and to complete assignments designed to encourage integration of the readings with previous and future readings and with applications to the real world.

Student Responsibilities or Tips for Success in the Course

Your attendance is a significant factor in student course grades. Start with attending our class and do the following basics.

- 1) Check and read class emails promptly for announcements, updates, clarifications, etc.
- 2) Take notes as you listen to lectures, read the assigned parts of the textbook to check if your listening comprehension matches with the textbook descriptions, and fill in the missing pieces.
- 3) Quiz yourself often. Can you define a concept in your own words? Can you answer 3 or 4 questions of the textbook practice questions correctly?
- 4) Review the materials on a regular basis.
- 5) Complete assigned coursework on time.
- 6) Please contact me when you have questions. The material is difficult, and no one learns everything perfectly the first time through. This class, and your time, is too important for you to spend time getting frustrated instead of learning

This syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

GRADING

Final grades in this course will be based on the following scale:

A = 90%-100%

B = 80%-89%

C = 70%-79%

D = 60%-69%

F = 59% or Below

Makeup exams and assignments

Life happens. If illness or other circumstance prevents your completion of assignments, make-ups may be permitted at my discretion. Email me as soon as possible, and be ready to provide relevant documentation if requested. There will be no make-up exams except as mandated by University policy for University-excused absences, religious holidays and major illnesses. Students should contact the professor prior to the scheduled exam if possible, or within 24 hours of missing the exam due to accident or illness. Due dates for exams are listed below on the schedule of topics.

If you are traveling and representing the university (e.g., band members, athletes, etc.) you need to request accommodations BEFORE the exam or assignment is due, not after.

If you encounter any technical problems when you take any timed tests or assignments online, take screenshots and email me immediately for potential makeup.

Assessments

Reading and lecture engagement: 60%

Weekly reading assignments and short recorded lectures from me will be hosted using the platform Perusall. You will be graded on your engagement with the readings or lectures. In practice opening the content, reading/watching to the end, and minimally engaging with it in any way (e.g., adding comments/highlights) should be sufficient for maximum points each week.

Term Project: 40%

By the end of the semester you will submit a project representative of your developing expertise in our course material. Formal instruction and a grading rubric will be provided during the semester. Projects always include a deliverable component, with common examples including a written term paper, a visual infographic, or a recorded presentation.

Research Participation via Sona

A goal of this class is to help you familiarize yourself with research methods. One way to obtain this goal is to have you participate in research studies. Participating in research studies contributes to students and faculty at East Texas A&M, your understanding of how research is conducted, and human knowledge in general. All students in this class will be required to participate in the psychology department's participant pool or complete alternative assignments.

This syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

Students must complete a total of 6 Sona credits. However, if you do not have any unexcused no-shows (i.e., you do not show up for a study or show up too late), you will be required to complete only 4 sona credits. Each week there are lab study schedules posted. Sign up in advance and show up on time.

When you first sign into the experiment management system (EMS), you will be asked to take a prescreen. The prescreen takes about 20 minutes to complete. If you complete the prescreen in the first two weeks of the semester, you will receive 0.5 free experiment credit. This can be combined with later experiments that are worth 0.5 credit.

An alternative to Sona research participation will be made available if you choose not to participate in research. The instructions and assigned articles can be found on D2L. If you choose to do the research alternative instead of the research studies, the article summaries will be due December 4, 2026.

Failure to complete the required number of credits will result in the reduction of your final grade by one letter grade. That is, if you have an "A" and do not complete the required credits, your final grade will be a "B."
