COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Minimal Technical Skills Needed

Using D2L Brightspace learning management system,

Instructional Methods

This is a fully online, asynchronous course. You are expected to interact with the course D2L each week. Online learning modules require students to be self motivated, and to independently pace their work.

This course will require using D2L to complete all course content, reliable internet and the use of a laptop or desktop computer. You will be reading and reviewing material that is located in the D2L classroom. You will submit weekly course Journal entries and participating in online class discussions. The midterm and final for the course are final submissions and reflections on your Course Journal and progress from the semester.

Assignments include writing creative projects and occasional quizzes. The majority of your writing assignments and projects will be from an ongoing course journal that you develop throughout the semester. The course is limited to no more than 15% creative projects.

Student Responsibilities or Tips for Success in the Course

As a student in an online course, you agree to participate actively as a civil respectful and supportive member of an inclusive learning environment for all. As a member of this class, you will be evaluated based on your participation in online discussions. Each student is expected to actively contribute to class discussions where we engage in collaborative research, ideation and reflection. A component of your grade is based on your discussion involvement. We can all learn from each other's responses, solutions, challenges, and questions. Please be respectful, professional, and courteous in class and online.

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

Use of Artificial Intelligence

East Texas A&M University acknowledges that there are legitimate uses of Artificial Intelligence, ChatBots, or other software that has the capacity to generate text, or suggest replacements for text beyond individual words, as determined by the instructor of the course.

Any use of such software must be documented. Any undocumented use of such software constitutes an instance of academic dishonesty (plagiarism).

The syllabus/schedule are subject to change.

Individual instructors may disallow entirely the use of such software for individual assignments or for the entire course. Students should be aware of such requirements and follow their instructors' guidelines. If no instructions are provided the student should assume that the use of such software is disallowed.

In any case, students are fully responsible for the content of any assignment they submit, regardless of whether they used an AI, in any way. This specifically includes cases in which the AI plagiarized another text or misrepresented sources

Students with Disabilities-- ADA Statement

The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) is a federal anti-discrimination statute that provides comprehensive civil rights protection for persons with disabilities. Among other things, this legislation requires that all students with disabilities be guaranteed a learning environment that provides for reasonable accommodation of their disabilities.
