Materials – Textbooks, Readings, Supplementary Readings

There is no required textbook for this course. However, this course does require extensive reading of research articles, and additional book material. All material relating to the student's research focus is relevant.

Course Description/Explanation

This course is the culmination of an Honor Student's honor thesis. The student has likely spent one or two prior semesters gathering research material (reading, writing), formulating a research plan or agenda and initiating the draft of a professional paper. In this process the student has also likely planned how, where, and when the final thesis will be presented and defended.

Student Learning Outcomes/Core Competencies:

1. Illustrate critical thinking skills through written work, and oral presentation
2. Demonstrate the ability to formulate a critical research topic and move it through the stages/steps of research methods culminating in a finished research paper of professional caliber
3. Be able to present the research paper with confidence to a professional audience, with proper delivery and adequate response to critical questions asked about the entire research project.

Students who complete Honors College experiences will demonstrate their capacity to make a difference in the civic life of our communities and to develop the combination of knowledge, skills, values and motivation to make that difference (SCHEV Core Competency in Civic Engagement, AAC&U Civic Engagement VALUE Rubric)

SYLLABUS CHANGE POLICY

The syllabus is a guide. Circumstances and events, such as student progress, may make it necessary for the instructor to modify the syllabus during the semester. Any changes made to the syllabus will be announced in advance.

NONDISCRIMINATION NOTICE

East Texas A&M University comply in the classroom, and in online courses, with all federal and state laws prohibiting discrimination and related retaliation on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability, age, genetic information or veteran status. Further, an environment free from discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation, gender identity, or gender expression will be maintained.

CLASSROOM POLICIES:

Statement on Student Behavior:

All students enrolled at the University shall follow the tenet of common decency and acceptable behavior conducive to a positive learning environment (See Student's Guide Handbook, Policies and Procedures, Conduct).

All students must show respect toward the instructor and the instructor's syllabus, presentations, assignments, and point of view. Students should respect each others' differences. If the instructor determines that a student is not being respectful towards other students or the instructor, it is the instructor's prerogative to ask the student to leave, to refer the student to the department head, and to consider referring the student to the Dean of Students who may consider requiring the student to drop the course. Please refer to pages 42 – 46 of the East Texas A&M University Student guidebook's Codes of Conduct for details.

Academic Dishonesty: Students at East Texas A&M University are expected to maintain high standards of integrity and honesty in all of their scholastic work. There is no tolerance for any kind of academic dishonesty in this course. This includes, but is not limited to, plagiarism, cheating on exams, theft of instructional material or exams, representing the work of someone else as one's own, and misrepresenting absences. Academic dishonesty is a severe transgression and may result in referral to the Dean of Students, expulsion from class and/or the University, and a failing grade.

It is the student's responsibility to:

1. research and write their own papers
2. give proper credit through documentation when using words or ideas of others
3. rely on their own knowledge when taking tests
4. refuse to give another student the opportunity to be dishonest

Artificial Intelligence (AI): The use of ChatGPT, Copilot, or any other AI platform or tool to generate ideas, write content, or produce any material is strictly prohibited in this course.

This class is designed to develop your writing skills, and if you are using AI, you are not writing or learning. This is because the use of AI diminishes opportunities to learn from our experiences and from each other, to play with our creative freedoms, to problem-solve, and to contribute our ideas in authentic ways. In a nutshell, college is a place for learning, and this AI simply cannot do that learning for us.

Any work written, developed, created, or inspired by generative artificial intelligence does not lend itself to our learning goals and is a breach of ethical engagement and our academic integrity policy.

Using AI opens up academic honesty issues, both because it raises the question if the work is "your" work, and also because tools like ChatGPT rely on taking material from uncredited scholars and writers. If discovered that you have used any type of AI for your work, you will face negative consequences, which will include failing the assignment, potentially failing the course and facing discipline from the university.

If it is suspected that the student used AI, the professor reserves the right to ask for more information, including how the assignment was created and written. More information may need to be provided to get credit for the assignment.

Please be cautious using tools like Grammarly, which can be very helpful when it comes to spell check and grammar advice, but should be avoiding when they generate content - the point is for the program to improve your writing, not rewrite your assignment. It is strongly suggested that students activate the feature called "Grammarly Authorship" which documents how the assignment is written and illustrates the student's writing process thereby showing that the work is their own. When you turn in your assignment, it is encouraged to turn in the authorship report alongside the paper. If AI is suspected, the professor will request the authorship report.

TURNITIN

East Texas A&M University uses Turnitin software to help students avoid plagiarism and cheating. Turnitin is a 'text-matching' software which is designed to educate students regarding appropriate citation and referencing techniques. Turnitin is also used to provide East Texas A&M University with confidence in the academic integrity of students work. Turnitin does this by comparing a student submission against an archive of Internet documents, Internet data, a repository of previously submitted papers, and subscription repository of periodicals, journals, and publications. Turnitin then creates an 'Originality Report' which can be viewed by both lecturers and students, which identifies where the text within a student submission has matched another source.
