Dear Dr. Wheelan,

In response to your letter of February 1, 2012, and in accord with the SACSCOC Substantive Change Policy and Procedure, Texas A&M University-Commerce is submitting a full prospectus for two proposed degree programs, the M.S. in Marketing and the M.S. in Finance. The programs are to be delivered at the International Institute for Higher Education in Rabat, Morocco, and 50% or more of a program's credits are to be offered at the site. Included with this request are: (1) a Substantive Change Letter of Notification; (2) a full prospectus for a substantive change, with a faculty roster; (3) a list of SACSCOC approved programs, sites, and modalities; and (4) the responses to the seven questions you requested be addressed.

Your letter included an invoice for $300 to help defray the cost of the prospectus review. It is my understanding the invoice has already been paid.

Best Regards,

Sandy Weeks, Ph.D.
Interim Associate Provost
