

CURRICULUM VITAE

December 20, 2023

Name: Thomas Lamar Brown

Rank: Adjunct Professor

Year Appointed: 1971

Department: Computer Science and Information Systems

Academic Degrees:

MBA University of Louisiana(ULM) 1968

BS University of Louisiana(ULM) 1966

Teaching:

Fall 2023 – adjunct professor (two courses)

Spring 2023 – adjunct professor(one course)

Fall 2022 – adjunct professor (one course)

Spring 2022 – adjunct professor (two courses)

Fall 2021 – adjunct professor (two courses)

Spring 2021 – adjunct professor(two courses)

Fall 2020 – adjunct professor (two courses)

Spring 2019 – adjunct professor(two courses)

Fall 2019 – adjunct professor (two courses)

Spring 2018 – adjunct professor(two courses)

Fall 2018 – adjunct professor (two courses)

Research and Scholarly Activities:

As necessary to develop support software for teaching, laboratory, and current curriculum.

Publications: none in last five years

Grants: none in last five years

Presentations: none in last five years

Services:

University, College and Department:

Mentoring new faculty, financial contributions;

Development of computer-based laboratory guides, problem sets, support software, web site/pages and course notebooks;

Mastery of new hardware and software utilized in academic programs;

Development and delivery of both inPerson and online courses in Introduction to Computer Science, Application Program Development, Database Management, and Technical Communication for Computing Professionals

Professional Development:

Academic Enrichment workshops, system mandated training

Professional and Academic Association Membership:

Association for Computing Machinery

Other Collegiate Assignments:

part-time teaching (usually two courses);

Curriculum development;

Advising

Vitae for College of Science and Engineering 9/01/2018 --> 12/20/2023