

Top 3 things you should know about your classroom technology

1. Power-Up: Hand-held projector remote controls have been replaced by wall-mounted push button controls (see image below). With 8 buttons, classrooms now have a standardized interface to power on the projector, switch video sources, and control the volume.
2. Connect: Extra video cables have been provided in the classrooms to facilitate presenting with a laptop. Simply use the extra VGA or HDMI cable already connected to the audio-visual wall-plate and then select the appropriate input. There's no need to hunt for cables plugged into the back of the computer in the instructor's lectern. Connection instructions (PDF weblink).
3. Choose: Switching video sources for the projector is a snap! Using the wall-mounted control, select the input controls on the second row from the top.
